

ARACHNIDES

BULLETIN DE BIBLIOGRAPHIE ET DE RECHERCHES

100

2021

EDITORIAL

Le bulletin "Arachnides" édite son centième numéro. Créé en 1989, ce bulletin d'amateurs a été tout d'abord le bulletin du "Groupe d'Etude des Arachnides" (G.E.A.) puis de l' "Association Pour la Connaissance des Invertébrés" (A.P.C.I.) avant de devenir un bulletin bibliographique et de recherches.

Pour ce numéro 100, nous présentons une check-list des taxa de scorpions 1758-2020. Nous sommes conscients que certains taxa ne sont pas reconnus par l'ensemble des auteurs tout comme les distributions, certaines méritant plus amples confirmations. Ceci est donc un document de travail accessible à toutes et à tous et qui peut être amendé et complété en fonction des observations de chacun(e). Depuis le catalogue de Fet et al. de 2000, une seule liste de ce type a été élaborée, celle de Stockmann & Ythier en 2010. Il existe également la liste des espèces tenue à jour par Jan Ove Rein disponible sur Internet (The Scorpion Files) mais elle ne comporte pas de distribution géographique alors qu'un site polonais (Scorpiones.pl), ayant cessé son activité en 2015, publiait une liste de répartition.

The « Arachnides » newsletter is currently publishing its hundredth issue. Initiated in 1989, this non-professional newsletter was first known as the "Groupe d'Études des Arachnides" (G.E.A), and then as the "Association Pour la Connaissance des Invertébrés" (A.P.C.I.), before becoming a bibliographical and research newsletter.

In this hundredth issue, we present a checklist of scorpions' taxa 1758-2020. We are aware that some taxa are not acknowledged by the entire community of authors, just like the distributions - some of which deserving further validations. This is therefore a working document open to the public, that can be enriched and supplemented according to the observations of everyone. Since the catalog of Fet & al. (2000), only one list of this kind has been developed, the one of Stockmann & Ythier, in 2010. There is also a species list that is kept up to date by Jan Ove Rein, and available on the Internet (The Scorpion Files), but it does not include geographical distribution, whereas a Polish site (Scorpions.pl) published a distribution list, but it has ceased its activity in 2015.
